

POETRY.

From the London Court Journal.
By Lady Emily Stuart Wortley.

This Love—this deep, this mighty Love,
That makes my heart in music move,
To thee, a dream, a trance may seem,
To me it makes all else a dream!

And those who love not—Dreamers all,
Round whom indifference winds her pall,
Her chilling pall, her darkening shroud,
That wraps all nature in a cloud!

And oh! that smile, which doth exert
No magic o'er thy motionless heart—
It may seem nothing unto thee,
To me it makes all else a dream!

This Love; this deep, this mighty Love,
Which makes my heart such transports prove—
To thee an empty dream may seem,
To me it makes all else a dream!

GERMAN WOMEN.

The German women are much more engrossed by the cares of housekeeping than women of a similar rank of life in England. They carry this too far in many instances, as we do the opposite extreme. In England, with our false, conventional refinement, we attach an idea of vulgarity to certain cares and duties, in which there is nothing vulgar. To see the young and beautiful daughter of a lady of rank running about, busied in household matters, with the keys of the wine-cellar and the store-room suspended to her sash, would certainly surprise a young Englishwoman, who, meantime, is netting a purse, painting a rose, or warbling some "Dolce mio Bene," or "Soavi Falpi," with the air of a nun at penance. The description of Werter's Charlotte cutting bread and butter has been an eternal subject of laughter among the English, among whom fine sentiment must be garnished out with something finer than itself; and no princess can be suffered to go mad, or even be in love, except in white satin. To any one who has lived in Germany, the union of sentiment and bread and butter, or of poetry with household cares, excites no laughter.

The wife of a state minister once excused herself from going with me to a picture gallery, because on that day she was obliged to reckon up the household linen; that she was one of the most charming, truly elegant, and accomplished women I ever met with. At another time, I remember that a very accomplished woman, who had herself figured in a court, could not do something or other—I forget what—because it was the "grosse Wasche," (the great wash,) an event, by the way, which I often found very mal-a-propos, and which never failed to turn a German household upside down. You must remember that I am not speaking of tradesmen and mechanics, but of people of my own, or even a superior rank of life. It is true that I met with cases in which the women had, without necessity, sunk into mere domestic drudges—women whose souls were in their kitchen and their household staff—whose talk was of dishes and of condiments—but then the same species of women in England would have been, instead of busy with the idea of being useful, frivolous and silly, without any idea at all.

"I observed, and I verified my own observations by the information of some intelligent medical men, that there is less ill health among the superior rank of women in Germany than with us; all that class of disease which we call nervous, which in England have increased, and are increasing in such a fearful ratio, are far less prevalent; doubtless, because the habits of social life are more natural. The use of noxious stimulants among the better class of women is almost unknown, and rare among the very lowest classes—would to Heaven we could say the same."—Mrs. Jameson.

From English Papers.

Just published, in 2 vols. 8 vo. Campbell's long looked for and interesting life of Mrs. Siddons. The following is a favorable specimen of its character:—
"Mrs. Siddons at Lady Macbeth.—It was my custom (says Mrs. Siddons, in her memoranda) to study my characters at night, when all my domestic cares and business of the day were over. On the night preceding that on which I was to appear in this part for the first time, I shut myself up as usual, when all the family were retired, and commenced my study of Lady Macbeth. As the character is very short, I thought I should soon accomplish it. Being then only twenty years of age, I believed, as many others do believe, that little more was necessary than to get the words into my head; for the necessity of discrimination, and the development of character, at that time of my life, had scarcely entered into my imagination. But to proceed; I went on with tolerable composure, in the silence of night, (a night I never can forget,) till I came to the assassination scene, when the horrors of the scene rose to a degree that made it impossible for me to get further; I snatched up my candle, and hurried out of the room in a paroxysm of terror. My dress was of silk, and the rustling of it, as I ascended the stairs to go to bed, seemed to my panic-stricken fancy like the movement of a spectre pursuing me. At last I reached my chamber, where I found my husband fast asleep. I clapped my candlestick down on the table, without the power of putting the candle out; and threw myself on the bed, without daring even to take off my clothes. At peep of day I rose to resume my task; but so little did I know of my part when I appeared in at night, that my shame and confusion cured me of procrastinating my business for the remainder of my life.

A surgeon and his wife, at London, had a furious battle with a lively stable keeper. The knight of the scalpel used his cane and lance, and he of the manger his pitchfork; but Madame turned the battle in favor of Esculapius, to the tune of several severe contusions.

The Irish washerwomen paupers in St. Giles' workhouse have struck because their daily pail of porter has been withheld from them. The police ordered it restored.

The famous Empiric of the Saloons, "John St. John Long, Esq.," is dead, aged 36.

Something new under the Sun.—In Nassau street, New York, under a lawyer's office, a penny sheet, entitled Truth, is printed, and the printer's sign, "Truth published here," is suspended under a lawyer's window, directly opposite to which are seen the names of men, 'attorneys,' 'counselors,' 'commissioners,' etc., which suggested the following

IN PROMPTNESS.
In ancient times perhaps 'twas true,
That "up to date," nothing was new;

Offices are not created for the support of individuals, but for the benefit of the public, the welfare of the country. It is not a man's claim, but his capacity that entitles him to office, if any man can be said to be entitled to office. It is his services which furnish the evidence of his capacity. Strictly speaking, no man in this country has any claims to office; for a claim presupposes a right—and that cannot be termed a right, which depends upon as many thousand contingencies as a man's vote, which may be given or withheld upon any pretence, without his being accountable to any one for his conduct.

When any man is elevated to the first office in the Republic, as he must necessarily disappoint so many partisans in his elevation, it is not to be expected that he can continue in office without opposition, any more than he could attain it without like opposition. Is any one so silly as to suppose, that when a new President is elected, he shall retain an old cabinet that opposed his elevation? Certainly not. And can he expect that a new cabinet will retain in their offices subordinate officers, who have been opposed to the election of the Chief Magistrate? The reason for dismissing the cabinet would hold good for dismissing the clerks. Why should not a cabinet minister have at least as great a privilege as a private individual, viz., that of dismissing servants in whom he has not confidence? The minister certainly owes a greater responsibility to the public than any private individual, and you ought to allow him at least an equal privilege in choosing his servants.

It has been objected to Gen. Jackson's administration, that he has dismissed 1400 from office in 18 months; while the aggregate of dismissals, during 36 previous years, amounts only to 74. The opposition tell us there are 40,000 office holders; the amount of removals is but a small proportion compared to those that are retained. But thirty-six years is a pretty long term for holding office—and if any of the 1400 had been in office half that term, it was high time for them to give place to others, if office was any blessing. But we view the case in another light;—the duty of removing these 1400 belonged to former administrations, and ought not to have been left to Gen. Jackson; and if he has performed an unpleasant duty—as we think he has—he ought to be commended, instead of censured. It was the boast of Mr Adams' friends, that he dismissed nobody from office—no great boast, when we bear in mind the precarious tenure by which he held his own office, and the misfortune he labored under in being obliged to call into his cabinet, as his Prime Minister, his most bitter foe, who would probably not permit him to dismiss any one from office, unless he appointed some friend of his foe.

It should ever be borne in mind, that the situation of office holders in this country is altogether different from that of England, or any other government; there, they have no opinions; here, every man in office, as well as out, exercises his opinions, and his elective franchise.

Camp Meeting.—We learn that a Methodist Camp Meeting is to be held at Natick this week, commencing to-day—preparations have been made to accommodate about twelve thousand persons. It is distant about three miles from Mr Crafts' Tavern, where the Worcester Rail Road Cars stop, and carriages can be had at Crafts' to carry persons to the meeting. A Camp Meeting must be a great novelty to most of our citizens, and hence our Methodist brethren may expect many visitors from the metropolis.

Mr Elliot, accompanied by a boy, made a most splendid balloon ascension from the Observatory Garden, Baltimore, on Monday last. After throwing out a large quantity of ballast, he ascended to the height, as he thinks, of six miles, where respiration became extremely difficult. He descended in the Patapsco River, and was taken up by the steamboat Maryland.

The Philadelphia United States Gazette, of Thursday afternoon, says:—"We learn that a number of black men, at work in a coal yard on the Schuylkill, were yesterday attacked by a number of whites, and very seriously beaten. Two police officers, stationed in that neighborhood, arrested two or three of the offenders."

A distinguished feature of Mr Walton's Concert, this evening, will be the unrivalled performances of Mr King on the Piano. Mr King has recently arrived in this country, and is now on a short visit to this city; and we unhesitatingly pronounce him the best Pianist to whom we ever listened.

Mr Durant must not be forgotten this afternoon.—This is the last opportunity, probably, that our citizens will have, for many years, of witnessing a similar exhibition. Mr D. has been to a great expense, and should be richly remunerated upon this occasion.

The Journal of Commerce contradicts, by authority, the statement of the New Bedford Gazette, in relation to the number of deaths on board the schr. Advance. A passenger, by the name of Pease, and the Captain, were the only persons who died.

The citizens of Detroit recently tendered the honor of a public dinner to the Hon. Lucius Lyon, their Delegate in Congress. Mr L. found it necessary to decline accepting the invitation.

Hudson and Ottignon will give their last Sparring Exhibition, at Julien Hall, this evening; upon which occasion they will be assisted by Mr O'Connell, and several distinguished amateurs.

The Selectmen of Charlestown have published in the Bunker Hill Aurora of Saturday, an Address to the Public, explanatory of their official conduct in relation to the destruction of the Convention.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce of Friday says—"the Board of Health will not meet again until Monday. The state of the public health is now such that daily meetings are not thought necessary."

The Hon. Rufus Choate, member of Congress from Salem District, has resigned his seat, and is about to remove to this city.

The U. S. sloop of War Erie went to sea from New York on Thursday, bound for the Brazil station.

POLICE COURT.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.—A colored man, residing in Robinson's Alley, at the North End, by the name of Richard King, made a desperate attempt, on Saturday afternoon, to kill his wife, with a small hatchet, with which he inflicted several severe wounds on her neck, shoulder, and right arm. After committing the assault, he jumped down into a cistern, the water in which was not of sufficient depth to entirely immerse him, and he was soon drawn out; though pretty thoroughly drenched by his voluntary ducking, it by no means damped his ardor for drowning, as he broke from the grasp of the bystanders, and plunged into the cistern a second and a third time, when he nearly effected his purpose of self-destruction, by his deliberately and obstinately keeping his head under water; but he was again doomed to be disappointed, as the Rev Mr Taylor succeeded in drawing him out, although almost senseless. After the hearing of the witnesses against him in the afternoon, King gave the court a very particular and edifying history of his domestic infelicities, for the past three years, from which it appeared that he has labored under Othello's inconvenient complaint; "that on Saturday, his wife was missing; that he thought she was after no good; that when he found her mangled all up in a neighbor's closet, he begins to suspect worse than ever; that he told her just what he thought on her carryings on; that she replied by breaking a stone jug over his head, because his head happened to be the hardest, and that he had no recollection of what took place after."—Fully committed for trial at the Municipal Court.

Knight Errantry.—On Friday night, James M'Grath was discovered, by a watchman, in the act of imposing his attentions upon a reluctant lady, with more warmth and assiduity, than grace or good manners, and referred to desist, when requested, in consequence of which a scuffle took place, and Mac received a depressor on his very prominent bump of amity, which will probably have the effects of keeping him pretty cool and regular for a week, or two. He attempted to make out an alibi, but a carrot-colored top, and a Roman nose, were rather too striking objects, by moonlight, to admit of his escape for want of identification, and he was done the dollars worth. His counsel then waited on us, and stated that his client did not wish to see his name in the papers. We replied to Mr Counselor—"Sir, you have discharged your duty to your client, very faithfully, in communicating his wishes to us, and we assure you, that if his name is immortalized, it will not be because we suppose he particularly desires such notoriety." Whereupon he bowed, and we bowed, and thus terminated the diplomatic interview, with all the courtesy, evasion, and equivocation, becoming a negotiation so important.

The condition of the Theatre Leases is the very best discovery in morals, that the wisdom of the city has ever made. To what individual are we indebted for it?—His name deserves to be emblazoned in letters of gold. Every true friend of the Drama will accord him his thanks and gratitude.

We had written thus much when we were informed that the "discovery" belonged to Mr Barry, the Lessee of the Tremont Theatre.

A general quarrel took place in the cooper's shop of Mr Van Schuyver, Rochester, on the 17th inst., between several Irishmen and Americans, which resulted in the death of one of the parties, who was beat to death with hoop-poles.

Cholera.—In New York for the 24 hours ending Friday noon, the number of cases was 28—deaths 12.—In Brooklyn, N. Y., there were 5 or 6 cases, part of which terminated fatally. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce mentions that some cases of Cholera have appeared on Staten Island. Among the persons deceased is the Rev. Wm. P. Curtis, Rector of St. Paul's Church, Tompkinsville, aged 42. In Cincinnati, the number of deaths by Cholera, the week ending the 13th inst., was 10. In Buffalo, the Cholera is prevailing to an alarming extent. On Monday, M. A. Andrews, the Mayor of the city died. Mrs. Andrews died of that disease the preceding night. In Montreal, the deaths for five weeks preceding the 15th inst. have been 1140, of which 785 have died by Cholera. In Galt, U. C., out of one hundred and fifty inhabitants, forty had perished by Cholera. In Quebec the malady has been still more fatal.—The Board of Health of that city, on the 15th inst., after the disease had continued its ravages for nearly six weeks, have ventured for the first time to make a report, and state the fact, that no fewer than eleven hundred and sixty-nine had fallen victims to the Cholera the present season in that small city!

Health of the City.—We have no report from the Board of Health to-day, that body having adjourned yesterday until Monday. We have heard of but one or two deaths since yesterday noon, and have no doubt that the health of the city is improving. The Brooklyn Board of Health report but one death in that city since yesterday noon.

Albany, Aug. 22.—New cases of Cholera 4, death 1.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—Deaths 14, of which by Cholera, 5.

We have heard that the mortality at Grosse Isle has been much greater than has been reported; the Gazette's statement of 200 is, however, frightful enough.

—Montreal D. Advertiser.

Another Riot.—The Philadelphia Gazette states that there was a renewal of the riots in that city on Wednesday evening. A mob of men and boys, taking umbrage at the conduct of a black man, a barber, named Battis, for an assault made by him on a white man in the afternoon—attacked his shop and completely battered in all the windows and doors. They then entered the house, and destroyed most of the furniture, fixtures, &c. rendering the place a complete wreck.—The police officers were sent for, and arrived in time to arrest four of the ringleaders, when the mob immediately dispersed, without attempting violence elsewhere.

Harvard College.—On Wednesday last a considerable number of the members of the Senior Class had a meeting, to consult on the expediency of accepting their parts at the approaching Commencement, and receiving their degrees, and by a small majority it was decided in the negative. But we learn from the Mechanics' Reading Room Books, that, at a full meeting of the Senior Class on Saturday forenoon, the vote passed on Wednesday, was re-considered, and it was voted that they accept the parts assigned them at the approaching Commencement, but refuse to accept their degrees.—Merc. Jour.

Fire.—One of the buildings of the U. S. Arsenal at Augusta—a dwelling house occupied by the family of an officer—was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The walls of the building were of stone, which were very considerably injured.—All the wood work was entirely consumed. The loss must have been considerable.

The Gloucester Patriarch.—The venerable WILLIAM PEW, the veteran of the last century, entered on his one hundred and third year, on Sunday the third instant. Having survived all the contemporaries of his youth, and most of their children and grand children, he still continues, while the fourth and fifth generations are passing away, an enduring monument, as it were, of former ages, amidst the mutability of all around him.—Born under the second sovereignty of the House of Hanover, he has lived a subject of George the Second and George the Third, has seen a great and rising Empire tearing itself from its allegiance to the parent state, and witnessed for more than half a century its independence and prosperity, the prodigious development of its inexhaustible resources, its indisputed pre-eminence in knowledge and virtue, freedom and happiness, its steady march onward in its unexampled career of unalloyed felicity, and of unparalleled glory. In the prime of manhood he went through the old French war. Ripened in years, and sobered by experience, he was prepared for the trying vicissitudes of the Revolution. Advanced in age, he watched with anxious interest the progress of the last eventful contest, and felt his ancient frame quickened with new vigor, his heart warmed, his features kindled with a glow of delight, when came the tidings, almost incredible, yet as true as wonderful, of the wreck of British valor, skill and prowess before the lines of New Orleans. His soul rejoiced, as did the soul of every patriot, to see the hero's glory shining with the undimmed splendor of the last and greatest American victory. He has lived to admire, and to see the vast majority of his contemporaries admiring, the civil administration of two military chieftains, of each of whom it might in his own time with truth be said, that "he was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." He has lived to honor him who led the pioneers of liberty to vindicate the declaration of the Fourth of July. He has lived to render "honor to him who filled the measure of his country's glory," on the 8th of January. Perhaps the best point in the old gentleman's character is that he is now, and has been for the last hundred years or more, a consistent Democrat. He has no respect for modern wheateericks. If principles are the criterion of party, he was a Jackson man before Jackson was born.—Democrat.

The Guaco.—A friend has placed in our possession some dried specimens of leaves, and bottles of the juice of this celebrated plant known as a native of Colombia, and so famous in the cure of bites of venomous snakes, rabid animals, &c. It was long famous among the negro doctors or curanderos of Santa Fe. It is mentioned by Mutis, also, by Alibert, Humboldt, Dancer, Bonpland, &c. The name it goes by in Colombia, is, Bejuco de Guaco; Guaco being the name of a hawk which feeds on snakes and eats of this plant to protect him from the effects of their bites. The Bejuco means a creeper or climbing plant or vine, which this is. It is of the class of Syngenesia, genus Mikania Willdenow; some, however, assert, it to be a species of the Solanum genus, or potato family. The most remarkable and apparently well-attested cures are related of it, and it seems, if these accounts be true, that it has been providentially placed in a country abounding in venomous reptiles. A trial of its virtues can at least do no harm, and especially in hydrophobia, for which it is said to be a specific cure. It is also said to possess curative qualities in many organic affections, likewise in rheumatism, gout, &c. The method by which it is preserved, is in the form of the expressed juice of the green leaves dissolved in alcohol, and it is used internally as a drink, and externally to the wounds as an embrocation.—Should it be introduced into use in this country, means might be obtained probably to procure its importation in considerable quantities.—Eve. Star.

The Chalice.—We have ascertained that there were two chalices in the Convent. One of them is a very valuable one, costing about $100; the other is a smaller one, estimated at 30 or 40 dollars. Neither of these were in the Cemetery for safe keeping, as stated. They were both in the Convent, and the smaller one contained the sacrament or consecrated wafer bread.—The principal chalice was taken from the Convent by a domestic, and secreted in the grass in the garden, on the night of the fire, and was regained by her the next morning, and returned to the Superior. The other chalice was taken from the Convent, by one of the Nuns, and secreted among the pea vines in the garden. This was in its tabernacle—a mahogany case, two or three feet high. Here it was discovered by Henry Wood, of Boston, a former member of Engine No 13, who wore a cap and badge with that number. He has been recognized—brought before the Police Court, at Boston—made a confession, and was discharged. The chalice had been jammed to pieces, and thrown away.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

Levity Misapplied.—The New-Orleans Bulletin from the 7th inst. contains the following article: The Weather.—The weather has been exceedingly hot during the three past days, but the city continues very healthy. Our friends J. H. Hall & Co. Undertakers, give public notice their "fine broad cloth hearse" is suffering destruction by moths, and their "stately plumed jurets greatly for the want of use."—"Their stock of Mahogany, imported for the construction of our "narrow houses," is offered for the fitting up of counting houses, and for the use of the manufacture of cabinet furniture. The Doctors, as well as Undertakers, wear long phizzes. We have not a wish to behold another smile upon their faces this season. [We are happy to learn that New-Orleans is free of disease.]

The John Randolph.—Wednesday morning the 13th inst. arrived at our wharf at 5 minutes after 10 o'clock, Mr G. B. Lamar's iron steam boat John Randolph, from Savannah, which she left at a quarter of an hour after 10 o'clock, on the morning of the 11th inst. having in tow, Boat No 14, (one of the very largest description very deeply laden, drawing upwards of two feet more water than the steam boat), and No 7, (a boat of the ordinary size,) also deeply laden; the traverse from Savannah to Augusta, having thus been performed in 10 minutes less than 72 hours, notwithstanding the detention on the upper part of the river, from its low stage, which prevented the boat from running part of the night preceding her arrival.—Augusta (Geo.) Constitutionalist.

The Blockley and Kingessing Harvest Home, in Pennsylvania, was celebrated, in pursuance of previous arrangements, in a large open wood in the township of Blockley, on the 16th instant. The Pennsylvaniaian says, "on a moderate calculation, the could not have been present at this celebration less than one thousand persons—the industrious, intelligent, and republican yeomanry of the land. It was the free will offering of a free people, roused up to action by the alarming array of dangerous power exercised by a morbid institution, in the very Citadel of American Liberty. This summoned together from the field, at this busy season of the year, the democratic yeomanry of the country, to unite their voices as one man in cheering approbation of the patriotism, firmness and integrity of the illustrious Chief Magistrate of the nation, and of their democratic representative in Congress, the Hon. Joel B. Sutherland."

The Frankfort (Ken.) Argus (Jackson) says, that "the election for Senators and Representatives has resulted in the choice of a decided majority of anti-Jackson Bank men, just as we expected it would do—of course a Bank Senator will be elected to the U. S. Senate next winter. But what then? Will the present Bank of the United States be rechartered? No. Never. Its fate is irrevocably sealed."

We understand that the celebrated Aeronaut, Eugene Robertson, intends making another aerial voyage from Castle Garden, accompanied by another person, in the beginning of next month, and that his arrangements are nearly completed.—N. Y. Gaz.

A young Sonnanbulist.—On Friday evening, a son of Mr S. Burleigh, Nassau street, between three and four years of age, was put to bed in a room by himself, the window being left open, with a curtain before it. At 10 o'clock the child got up in his sleep, went to the window, crawled out, and fell upon the sidewalk, a distance of thirty feet, which waked him from his sleep. Surgical aid was called, but he soon recovered from the shock, no bones being broken. He is now doing well, and will probably recover.—Trans.

A long Street.—Fulton is likely to be remembered among our sturdy farmers if no where else. It is known to our readers that the citizens of Hempstead have resolved to style their principal thoroughfare, 'Fulton,' in continuation of the street of that name in N. York and this city. We now learn that the inhabitants of Jamaica propose to continue the worthy cognomen; but how much further it will "stretch its slow length along," this deponent saith not.—Brooklyn Daily Ad.

We stated some days since, upon the authority of a Buffalo paper, that Mr Cleland, senior editor of the Detroit Courier, had died of cholera. We now learn from the Courier, that it was Mr E. J. B. Canning, the junior editor, who died. Mr Canning was a native of Gill, Mass., and a gentleman of talents and education. He passed some time in the Mediterranean, on board the frigate United States, as Midshipman's Tutor.

We have received a communication from a lady, who claims the reward of $1000 offered by the Editor of the Buffalo Rising Sun, for explaining the "difference between a Tory of '76 and a modern Whig." She says, "The Tories of 1776 wore short breeches." But the whigs of 1834 wear pantaloons." And she says the whole difference, and thereupon claims the reward.—Republican Herald.

A young man, 18 years of age, belonging to Cambridge, and now on a visit to this town in company with his parents, was last evening arrested near the Four Corners, by virtue of a legal paper, which charges him with having been concerned in the destruction of the Ursuline Convent. We are informed that he will forthwith be taken to Charlestown for examination.—New Bedford Gaz.

From Matamoros.—By the brig Texas, Capt. Edwards, we have a Matamoros paper, or hand-bill, from which it appears that the garrison of that place pronounced in favor of the Santa Anna or Priest party on the 22nd of July, and the town of Matamoros on the 23d.—Jour. Com.

The project of uniting the Mississippi with the Atlantic by means of a rail road, progresses with more spirit than anticipated. The engineer has reported favorably upon the practicability of the measure. The points of termination spoken of, are Memphis, on the Mississippi, and Charleston, S. C. on the Atlantic border.

A young farmer at Mechanicsville, Penn., for a wager, raked and bound 25 dozen of oats in 51 minutes. He was to have accomplished the task in 60 minutes. Every dozen judged to make one clean bushel.

Printed hand-bills, threatening assassination, according to the oath the party have taken, to all persons who may testify in Court against their accomplices, were posted in this town, on Thursday night.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

Dutch Policy.—The Dutch Government have passed a decree prohibiting foreigners from residing in the Dutch East Indies, or commanding Dutch ships, also forbidding foreign ships sailing with Dutch sea letters.

The towns along the margin of the Mississippi are unusually healthy; the river is high. Direct communication between New Orleans and St Martinville has been kept up, says the Vermillionville paper of the 25th.

Barracks are about being erected at the mouth of the River Des Moines, near the lower rapids of the Mississippi, intended for the quartering of a corps of dragoons.

Girard Bank.—By the Globe, we learn that the Girard Bank has been re-appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury—as one of the Banks to receive the Government Deposits.

Quarantine.—Notice is given in the Charleston (S. C.) newspapers of the 15th inst., that after that day, all vessels arriving from New York, including steam packets, will be liable to Quarantine.

A bear was killed last week in the village of Bellefonte, Pa., which he visited, by the inhabitants, who turned out armed and equipped with their tools of trade, without recourse to fire arms.

A party of Indians, near Pea river, Dale county, Ala., murdered a boy about 18 years of age, who had discovered them in the act of stealing, for the purpose of hiding their guilt.

A car on the Willow street Railroad, Philadelphia, came in contact with a four wheeled vehicle, which was broken to pieces. A gentleman who was seated inside escaped without injury.

A lady of Philadelphia has requested a seat in Mr Elliott's balloon, who is about to ascend from Camden, opposite Philadelphia.

A law suit in Plymouth, Mass., respecting a pig worth three dollars, cost the defendant the sum of one hundred, and the plaintiff sustained an equal expense.

Dreadful.—One of our western papers, in giving an account of a tornado, heads it as follows:—"Disgraceful Thunder Storm!"

From Tampico, dated to the 23d of July, have been received at New Orleans. San Louis Portosi had been obliged to submit to the superior forces of Santa Anna.

Major Eaton, the newly appointed Governor of Florida, arrived at Nashville on the 7th inst.

The Merchants of New Orleans are about to erect an Exchange.

REMONT THEATRE.—The public is most respectfully informed, that the Theatre, having been early embellished, will be opened for the season on MONDAY EVENING, September 1st.

Deeply impressed with the liberal patronage he received last season, the subscriber pledges himself to renewed exertions, and assures the citizens of Boston, that no expense, or assiduity shall be spared to merit a continuance of their favors.

He flatters himself that the friends of the Drama will approve of several alterations he has been induced to make, tending, he thinks, to increase the respectability of the Stage—disarm the prejudices of its opponents, and rendering it an instrument of improvement, relaxation, and instruction.

THOMAS HARRY.

The Ladies and Gentlemen engaged at the above establishment, are requested to assemble in the Green Room, on FRIDAY, Aug. 29, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

THOMAS HARRY.

GRAND MISCELLANEOUS CONCERT.—MR. AND MRS. STONG respectfully inform the public, that through the many solicitations of their friends, they are induced to give a CONCERT OF MISCELLANEOUS MUSIC, at the Masonic Temple, on THURSDAY EVENING, August 28th, when they will be assisted by some of the first Professors in the city. The Concert will consist of the following celebrated Glee, Duets, and Solos; and the public may rest assured, that neither pains nor expense have been spared, to make this one of the most interesting performances of the kind, ever offered to the citizens of Boston.

MR. JONES will preside at the Piano Forte.

PART I.
Glee: Five Voices; When dawns breathe soft. Webb.
Solo: Mermald's Cave. C. E. Horn.
Duets: As it fell upon a day. Bishop.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.—NEW ENGLAND MUSICAL.—In addition to the numerous attractions of the establishment, the HERR ZALON, the Polish Samson, will perform his Wonderful Gymnastic Feats, every Evening during this week. He will also exhibit the Speaking Automaton, and the Automaton Rooming Dancers, as formerly done by Haezel, assisted by Maj. Stevens.

To those who have witnessed the far famed Ramo Samee, a performance of this gentleman will be found fully equal, except swallowing the sword. But swallowing swords has become unfashionable, since the last one swallowed staid swallowed.

Performance to commence at 8 o'clock. Good Music, with songs, &c.
Admittance 25 cents, without distinction of age.
